Dear Executive Editor Svihlik,

Last week five messages, two to Editor Ellen Mitchell and three to Editor Aleks Dolzenko; were left on their answering machines. In each message it was stated that I had information about cars that burned water for fuel. None of those calls were returned. Today I spoke with Editor Dolzenko saying I had information about cars that burn water for fuel and was he interested. He said no. I hope the reason for none of the calls being returned and Editor Dolzenko's response is because your editors think I am some kind of nut. I assure you I am not a nut or are the several TV stations, not in this area, that have reported on these cars. Attached are screen shots from two of several videos on my web site www.byronwine.com. The flyer is given to those complaining about the cost of energy.

Editor Svihlik, I hope the lack of interest from your editors is because they didn't believe me and not deliberate suppression of information.

Please consider informing your readers that a replacement for "fossil-fuel" energy falls from the sky and is available at any water faucet.

Sincerely,

Byron S. Wine III
